Taking Pictures Mister?

"YES, son! . . . and that's only the beginning.

For, from the photograph—which may be a street scene, or a "model shot" for a daring new perfume, or a portrait of a new washing machine, or an interior view of a rolling mill—

RGB carries the medium of photography into a myriad applications . . . into, for instance, the making of printing plates for advertising, editorial, educational and decorative purposes. Yes, son, taking pictures is only the beginning—and just one of the things we do at RGB."

VALEDICTORY

Today, as I stand before you, a representative of the graduating students of this school, a feeling mixed with joy and sorrow passes over me. True it has been a long awaited day, yet it comes as the close of one of the most happy eras of our lives.

It has been here at Stanstead that I have spent the happiest days of my education, and I feel sure that in saying this, I am not merely speaking for myself, but for all of us who so soon will be picking up a new set of tools and beginning a life far different from that which we have so far experienced.

When I say tools I do not necessarily mean wrenches, hammers, or what have you, but the implements of life common to the work-a-day world. While we have attended this school, books, pens, pencils, and erasers have all been our tools, and through the ever near and guiding hands of our teachers we have learned to use them — use them to help us to live as we would wish. To live a life free from poverty and corruption.

Here in Stanstead College we have been given much and yet we ourselves have given little. But then we have not been in the position to give. Now as the last few days move in and crowd around us, the chance to pay back what we so greatly owe is coming our way. It is our obligation as future citizens to continue to live in a manner of self-respect and high integrity such as we have known here.

Looking back, we see the many hours spent in the classroom and on the playing field, and here we find the ever ready teachers who have given unselfishly of their time and energy, devoting all to give us the chance which, we as Canadians, are entitled to. They have been to us as the policeman on the corner, showing us what is right and where to go. We have not made it easy for them, yet they have always been there, and to them at this time, to Dr. Amaron, Mrs. Amaron, and to the teachers of Stanstead College I would say, "Thank you," for something, so great, that only years and memories will be able to show us their true value.

It has been a long road and a hard road, the end of which has been eagerly awaited, but now as the top of the hill is reached we see an even higher hill to climb. The road up is covered with many obstacles, and to us it is a challenge. We must not fail to climb it, for ourselves and for those to whom we owe this wonderful background.

Now, as we go out into the world to put our knowledge to a practical use, as part of the generation which at the present time is so greatly in jeopardy of war, it is our duty to show our thanks to Stanstead College by putting forth our right foot and striving with vigour to make and keep our country one, which in the eyes of all, will be a land where men and women will be proud to live.

So for those of us who are leaving I say, "Thank you, Stanstead, for a priceless gift," and to those who will remain and are yet to come, "May the best be yours and may you make the most of a wonderful opportunity."

Gordon Stewart, Gr. XI

EDITORIAL

The door of another happy year of high school life is rapidly closing. For many, another or similar door will open again next year, but for some of us there remains only the glass door of memory through which we can glimpse the happy scenes of these school days.

For us the portal of the world is opening and as we stand on the threshold, a feeling of anticipation and eagerness, and, no doubt, a little fear and reluctance, arises within us.

As we survey the large expanse before us, we see one thing more clearly than anything else — an urgent need for peace. The need has been long-standing and we and our fellow graduates throughout the country must endeavour to fill it.

It is a more than difficult task as past failures show, but it can be done. Statesmen are undoubtedly influential but only if their works reflect the spirit of the nation. And as we take our places as citizens, it is our individual spirits and desires that make up the spirit of the nation.

At Stanstead College and in Canada as a whole, we have been taught the fundamentals of democracy and the requisites of peaceful living. If these things have been well absorbed, you have graduated with honours for they are overwhelmingly important. The tools — tolerance, co-operation, and fairness — have been placed in our hands. It remains only for us to employ them well.

GRADE XI PROPHECY

It was a quiet Sunday evening that memorable day of September 27, 1970, and a perfect night for a walk. Having finished a goodwill conference of international importance, both of us decided to relax our minds and take in the fresh night air.

We hadn't walked any more than several hundred yards when the roar of an atomic engine reverberated on our ear-drums. With the quiet hiss of its monoclinic brakes a custom-made space-ship settled on the ground before us. A hingeless door fell off the aircraft's fuselage and to our amazement Professor Turnbull stepped out on the ground. We chatted about old times for awhile. Then he proceeded to show us his rocket-ship. Having nothing to do, we accepted his invitation to go for a cruise in his wonderful machine. We entered the ship's cabin and found the cockpit to be occupied by Bob Stewart. The professor explained to us that Stewart was his pilot, and a week previously, on a test flight, had flown the craft at a speed of 4,220 m.p.h. The professor went on to explain that the test flight would have occurred sooner but his pilot had just returned from his honeymoon. He was married to the former Miss Barbara Jackson of Montreal.

We then proceeded towards Montreal stopping off at Bedford for supper. We had frog-legs for supper and we were told that they were a specialty of "Bring-em-back-alive" Edghill — a professional frog hunter. After supper we attended a night baseball game. We were startled to discover that the first baseman was Sheila Ferguson, the only woman player on the Bedford team.

We boarded the ship again. As we were rapidly gaining altitude, one of the rocket-engines mis-fired — the ship went into a vertical dive but finally righted itself. We must have appeared frightened because Turnbull said, "If anything happens, I hear that Jean Berry and Betty Vivian are excellent nurses at the Royal Victoria, so don't worry."

We landed at Dorval Airport in Montreal. As we stepped out of the ship we were greeted by Doug Wilson who was selling accident insurance policies which covered everything from slipping on banana skins to falling out of airplanes.

We hailed a taxi and proceeded to a newly erected hotel. On the way into the city we listened to the radio. The familiar soothing voice of Dave Hawkins came to us over the ether. He was doing a wonderful job as disk jockey on the "Children's Hour" radio program. We arrived at the hotel fifteen minutes later. Passing through the lobby we bumped into a rather portly gentleman and his wife—none other than Bob McCaffrey, the manager of the hotel, and his wife, the former Ruth Rice. While we were having a bite to eat in their suite, we were informed that Millicent Struthers was happily married and living on a dude ranch out West, and her friend, Marion Rose, was a director in a ladies' temperance union.

We went downstairs, entered the lobby, and were greeted by Maggie Philip, a picture of robust health. This was probably due to the outdoor life she is leading with her geologist husband. Mag told us she had met Geoff Newman who seemed to have a private business. He was selling Canasta sets at the corner of Peel and St. Catherine.

We left the hotel and walked towards the central Y. A small and slightly balding man came striding out the main entrance. It was none other than Lieutenant John Goodfellow, now coach of the Navy track team. He informed us that he had attended a violin and piano concert by Maureen Haggas and Shirley May two nights previously, and had met Dot Beinschrott, a leading chemical technician at McGill. We figured she had finally conquered her desire to make candy every time she got hold of a test tube.

Two matrons were walking towards us at the time — as they came closer we made out the familiar features of Johanne Mooyboer and Marmie Golden. Both had controlling interests in the "Lonely Hearts Club of the Western Hemisphere". Their optimistic attitude astounded us. They told us that Gwen Allen was married, had four children, and was living in Thetford Mines. Wot Hoppen?

As it was getting late we returned to the hotel for a good night's sleep. We rose at 7:15 the next morning (sound familiar?), had breakfast, checked out of the hotel, and headed for the airport. Stewart, the pilot, was waiting for us and he told us the ship had been given a thorough check-up by the monkey in charge of greas-----ing, Dean Morrisette.

We had scarcely finished fastening our seatbelts when the speedy craft landed on the S.W.C. grounds. During our tour on the new structures which composed the ultra-modern college we encountered in the cyclotron building the eminent Peter Foulkes, professor of nuclear fission (and an expert on intermediate maths). Peter told us we could find Doreen Aldrich doing research work in the Inter-Functional Dynamics Laboratory a short distance away. We didn't feel like interfering with her work for we realized how important it was to the survival of mankind. We proceeded to the hotel for dinner and we were ushered into the building by the doorman, Lloyd Trevail. We agreed that his promotions must have been exceedingly rapid as he had been a mere bell-hop when he had graduated from Stanstead College 20 years before. We remarked that the cuisine was excellent and asked to see the dietitian in order to pay her our compliments. As we were gradually becoming accustomed to surprises, we weren't in the least astonished to find that the dietitian was Caroline Munroe. Her wonderful recipes were a far cry from the burnt cakes in the domestic science room. When we paid for our meal, our change was handed to us by John Rose—owner of the Del Rosey Hotel. We asked him of the whereabouts of Marion Kyle and Bob Cournoyer. The former had part ownership in a shoe-store in Huntingdon while the latter, curiously enough, was the newly appointed truant officer of Stanstead County. He apparently was doing an excellent job, and this can no doubt be attributed to his having had previous experience along that line.

We left the Hotel and met Raymond Van Vliet. Van told us that as Lacolle's sole contractor he had undertaken a contract to pave the streets of his home town. He asked us if we had heard of the trouble being stirred up in Baldwin's Mills by Lester Baldwin. He had established a dictatorship. While chatting with Van, an enormous, low slung, atom-mobile screeched to a stop beside us. Out of the car stepped a pair of size thirteen brogans containing the feet and supporting the body of the famous stage and telescreen star from "20th Century Wolf", Gordon Van Buren Stewart. He informed us that he had a training school for valedictorians as a side-line.

About this time both of us figured we had been away from our jobs long enough. So we bade our friends farewell and once more took to the air in the Turnbull Custom-Cruiser. Soon landing at Lake Placid. It had been an eventful trip. We feel that if our classmates ever attain the heights which we have predicted in this prophecy, the future of the North American Continent is secure indeed.

Even if they don't attain these heights the security of this Continent will be assured by the two of us, Paul Newhall and John Kerr, as President of the United States and Prime Minister of Canada, respectively.

Paul Newhall and John Kerr.

(Editor's Note: Somehow I can't imagine that Bob Stewart will be waiting twenty years before he goes on his honeymoon!)

Principal's Message

As the school year 1949-50 draws rapidly to a close another chapter has been added to the history of our College. Whether it becomes classic and permanent or merely ephemeral and transient remains to be seen, but we may be certain that the coherence, the purpose, the unity, and the quality of its contents will to a very large degree reflect the individual and the combined efforts of the members of the graduating classes.

I trust that all of you will feel that you have made some worthwhile contribution to the pages of this chapter even if it be only a few sentences.

As you look back on your graduation year you will realize more than ever before the basic truth found in the words of scripture: "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

If your graduation diploma means that you have learned the profound significance of this simple thought it will be a document worth cherishing.

As you go on to further fields of endeavour you carry with you the best wishes of your old school whose heart will be made glad or sorrowful as it responds sympathetically to your adjustment to life's experiences.

"A wise son maketh a glad father;

But a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother."

But now you can't stand or raise your right hand
And say, "You do it, please, I can't, Sir!"*

NIGHT FRIGHT

by

Tommy Prangley

*Under the moon so pale and high
Hear that lonely, piercing cry.
Ringing in the mid-night air,
Seeming to raise one's very hair
And put a glint of fear in the eye.*

*Standing still and listening now
With hands clenched tight on a broken bough,
Gripped by the stark cold hand of fear.
And the thought of danger lurking near Brings beads of sweat out on the brow.*

*There! Again! That insane,
Shaking tree, and man, and rafter,
Makes one catch his fainting breath
And think and ponder a gruesome death
And what it holds for one hereafter.*

*Now by the moon's faint, maning light
That gently illumines the Stygian night,
Behold the cause of all this fear!
Summoning courage, one draws near
And startles a bird into sudden flight.*

*Ah, not a banshee or waithlike ghost.
Only a bird at the very most!
For out of the depths of the misty gloom
Rose up a lonely, frightened loon.
The terrifying nocturnal host.*

"ODE TO A SKUNK"

*Oh, little beast, with stripe of white,
I cannot see you in the night,
You give no warning, why is that?
I could mistake you for a cat.*

*You sneak around so gay and free,
But, please, small rodent, think of me,
Who when you spray with fragrant lotion,
Causes quite a sad commotion.*

*To you your perfume might smell sweet,
But we don't think it's quite so neat,
If people liked it they would get,
A little skunk just for a pet.*

*I do not think you have a nose,
To smell the odour of the dose,
Of perfume that on us you spray,
Oh, polecat, please do stay away.*

*My clothes are clean before you spray
Them with that horrible array
Of liquids that I cannot stand,
That perfume which you think is grand.*

*You little devil, can't you see,
That I don't want you near to me
But yet if you could lose that smell,
I think that things would all go well.*

MY SEVEN YEARS IN CHINA

by

Leon Jedeikin

Because the years I spent in China were the most eventful and probably the most exciting years of my life, I have chosen them as my subject.

My parents and I came to China in 1939, intending to settle down for a couple of years and then move to Canada. The two years between 1939 and 1941 were uneventful and peaceful. Even though war was raging in Europe and peace in the western part of the Eastern Hemisphere was a thing of the past, the doings and misdoings of the Great Powers of the West did not affect the peaceful life that was led in the Far East. People in general enjoyed themselves, went out to night clubs and dances, and discussed the war in Europe as a remote, unreal thing, just as if it existed in another world.

It was only towards the end of 1941, in October and November that some serious thought was given to the strained relations between Japan and the United States. Many people, however, still felt that the situation warranted no worry on their parts.

On the night of December 6, 1941 that being Saturday night, people in Shanghai went out and enjoyed themselves, going to the various places of amusement in the heart of downtown Shanghai. The city went to sleep late that night and on the next morning, December 7, it awoke to hear the tramping of many feet outside. Thinking that it was the Marines or the Navy coming to town, everybody flocked to the windows and out into the streets. And there they got the biggest and possibly the most dreadful shock of their lives.

The men marching down the broad streets of Shanghai were not wearing American uniforms. Their clothes were a drab greenish-yellow, and their yellow complexions, slanted eyes and the flags on their vehicles pronounced to the silent and wondering populace that they were Japanese soldiers, "The Sons of Nippon," come to establish a "Greater East Asia" as they put it. Overhead their planes began to circle, ready to bomb or machine-gun anyone who offered resistance, but most people just stood and stared. The Japs took over the city and promptly interned the Americans and British, taking over their houses and other useful installations.

In the afternoon of that day a large portion of their fleet arrived in Shanghai and more soldiers got off, helping their compatriots to take over the city, which had, by now, assumed a sullen, silent, and resentful look.

The Japs then undertook a systematic search of every house for radios, radio parts and in the garages for cars. They took our radio and a few days later, the car. In a few months they started taking the boilers, radiators, and even the pipes to be used as scrap iron for making guns. Of course, any and all machinery that was found was taken away and shipped to Japan.

The following years were highlighted chiefly by the misery and feeling of oppression that grew with the passing months of war. Shanghai was, indeed, a giant concentration camp, as free movement in the streets was restricted, and no one was allowed to leave the city. Then too, most of the radios having been taken by the Japs, it was very hard to get any news of the outside world except Jap propaganda, unless someone had a hidden short-wave set to pick up the States. The papers were filled with, on the most part, news of Japanese "victories" and other propaganda.

Conditions kept going from bad to worse, and were soon to be accentuated by the beginning of bombing raids by B.29's. They began coming over regularly and from our house we had a splendid view of the planes as they bombed the air fields and other military installations the Japs had around the outskirts of the city. We never knew when a raid was coming off, as the sirens seldom blew before the planes came but went on about ten or fifteen minutes after they had left. The Japs put up very little resistance and almost never sent out any fighters. The occasional few that they did manage to send up were shot down almost immediately.

This state of affairs continued into the spring of 1945, when President Roosevelt died. Even the Japs had the decency to send a note of condolence to the American government. About this time, when Germany was on the verge of surrendering, it became increasingly clear to all that it was only a matter of time before the Japs threw in the towel. They were, however, determined to fight for Shanghai if the Americans tried to take it and so started throwing up barricades in the streets and practising street warfare. By now the planes had begun to come over every day and sometimes at night. This kept the whole city in a state of tension, which was added to by the fact there was no law and robberies and murders in the blacked-out streets were common.

Then came the news of the atom bomb, followed immediately by the news of Russia's declaration of war against the Japs and a few days later the Second War ended with the Jap's surrender.

That night, August 14, 1945, the city went wild in celebration. There was dancing in the streets and clubs and bars that had been closed since the beginning of the war, opened with full houses.

The next day the U.S. Navy came and the city was invaded by white uniforms. Later in the day troops started pouring in from the ships and from the transport planes. Over every house there fluttered the flags of the Four Powers, and even the streetcars, which for the last month or so had not been running, started operating again with flags and streamers. The deserted streets again filled with people and vehicles. At night the searchlights of the ships in the harbour illuminated the sky and helped to celebrate V-J Day.

Little by little the city settled down. Once more life began to take on the normal pre-war aspect as the nightclubs and movie houses opened, and once more the streets of downtown Shanghai were busy and the shops, now open with full stock again, were filled with people. It became evident, however, that inflation, as a result of the devaluation of the Chinese dollar or Yuan, was setting in. Because of this and other reasons, we left Shanghai for Europe, concluding an interesting and very exciting seven year stay in China.

A DAY AT THE U.N.

In October, Margaret Philip made a three-day visit to the United Nations Headquarters at New York. She went with a group of 43 from Vermont, and her trip was sponsored by the International Rotary Club of Rock Island. A few days after her return, Margaret gave the following report to the staff and students of the College.

"The U. N. Building is situated at Lake Success in Long Island. Incidentally, Lake Success is a lake, although a very small one. As we approached the building, the first thing to come to my attention was the array of flags representing all the nations of this organization. In the building, near the main entrance, is a bronze plaque which was recently unveiled to the late Count Bernadotte.

I am sorry to say that we missed the meeting of the General Assembly. It meets in a separate building, at Flushing Meadows, a short distance from Lake Success. However, we did have the opportunity of seeing the smaller councils in session in the different conference rooms. In each room is a large table around which are seated the delegates. Behind them are their advisors. At the head of each table are a Chairman and a Secretary General.

In each room are sections for reporters and the public. Each chair is equipped with a set of earphones and a dial which the listener may tune in to any one of the five languages used in the Conference: These are: French, English, Spanish, Chinese, and Russian. The translators for each of these five languages are in separate sound-proof rooms. The interpreters must be given a great deal of credit as theirs is a job that calls for perfection, even to the gestures of the speaker.

The meetings are conducted in a polite, friendly, democratic way and each speaker is given a chance to express his views. A record is kept of every word spoken, and for this reason, the U.N. employs a very large secretarial staff. The U.N. has within the building its own communication systems, which are constantly in touch with all parts of the world.

One big mistake made by the public is that they judge the organization by the headlines only. Very little stress is put on the smaller councils, such as agriculture, labour, education, trade, etc., which are laying the groundwork for world peace.

We were very fortunate in having Mrs. Roosevelt speak to us. Being the Chairman of the Human Rights Committee, she discussed the work of that particular section. We also had a short chat with Warren Austin, who is the American Ambassador to the U.N. As he is from Vermont, he was particularly interested in our group.

I only hope that everyone of you will, at some time or other, have a chance to see for yourselves the U.N. at work, and what a wonderful job they are doing to improve conditions in the world and preserve peace."

Bugbee Business College

During 1949-50 Bugbee has endeavoured to carry on the purposes for which it was established by Dr. Bugbee — a thorough Business training with the ideal of integrity in, and loyalty to a job, intrusted to its graduates.

Of those who have attained Diploma standing we are justly proud for we have set and maintained a high standard. Office Practice was introduced as a Diploma subject and Bookkeeping for Stenographic Students with a Junior Secretarial Diploma being granted.

Gregg Shorthand has been taught and students have been most energetic and enthusiastic with gratifying results — 100 words per minute is the standard set and attained. Impetus was given to Shorthand by the presentation of a trophy for yearly competition by the Border Business and Professional Women's Club. Having a fairy godmother come forward to watch over the girls, we are now looking for a godfather to take an interest in our Bookkeeping boys.

We consider it our very good fortune in having Dr. Amaron take the Commercial French and feel that real progress was made.

Grade XI French also had a classroom in Bugbee one period a day, again under Dr. Amaron, and we were glad to be able to accommodate two periods of Grade X French Supervision.

Commercial subjects with Academy Grades VIII, IX, X, and XI form a considerable part of the work done in Bugbee. In typewriting in the four grades 67 were enrolled — in Bookkeeping, taught in 6 different classes in order to fit them into the Academy schedule, there were 25 students.

Through the good auspices of Mr. Summer-ville, Mr. H. Worthen and Rene Morin, who drove their cars, Bugbee students were able to avail themselves of the invitation of Dominion Textiles to visit their plant at Magog last fall. At the time of going to press the students are looking forward to a trip through the Spencer offices and plant. For this opportunity, we are indebted to Mr. J. D. Ferguson.

Mr. J. W. Sancton, Mr. E. J. Struthers, and Mr. R. F. Fregeau spoke to the students during the year and we are grateful to them for giving of their time and experience.

A Christmas party with tree was the feature of Christmas closing and the Annual Bugbee prom was held in March.

Bugbee students will again be in charge of decorations for the June Prom. They have also shared in Alumni work by putting out several lots of literature to Alumni members at Mr. Sancton's office. The Alumni Secretary has since Christmas used the Bugbee Office.

To Ken Currie, President of the Literary Society, in particular for his helpfulness in many undertakings, and to all students, sincere thanks for the fullest cooperation.

Bugbee Prophecy

Rock Island, Que., April 24, 1960

Dear Berit:

It has been a long time since I wrote you last, a housewife's lot is a busy one. However, something happened this noon that started me reminiscing of the days when you and I shared a desk in Bugbee, 'way back in '50 and I just had to sit down and write you

Don turned on the television set just before we sat down to dinner and from the kitchen I heard the announcer say, "And now the man with the sweetest clarinet this side of Heaven will play his own composition, 'Down By The Border'." After listening to the music for a minute or so, I thought, "Gosh, that styling sounds familiar." Soon my curiosity got the better of me and I went into the living room to see just who this musician was. And there on the screen was Guy Poisson! When my surprise had subsided sufficiently, I recalled the "jam sessions" we used to have in some of our Literary Society meetings. How poor old Bugbee shook when Shirley Loveland beat out "Five Foot Two" on the piano, Henry Schreiber plucked his guitar, tapping his foot rhythmically the while, and Eric Jones sang lustily. Remember my telling you in my last letter that they had toured the United States as a trio? They gained fame by the minute but then they came to Montreal and Eric met Richard Labree (now better known as the second Rocket) and he convinced him to come and play hockey for the Canadiens with him. Well, you know Eric's passion for hockey and, as you may have guessed, the two remaining members of the trio are now looking for a vocalist.

I am sending you some pictures of the new Bugbee Business College which was completed about two months ago. Isn't it hard to believe, after spending a year in the old building, that ultra-modern edifice you see before you is Bugbee? The two people you see standing in the big plate glass window are J. B. and Real Ferland. Real is J. B's assistant now, and specializes in "The Fundamental Principles of Accounting." If you look carefully you will see Henri Pelchat smiling out at you from behind a big tree — he is back in school taking an advanced course in spelling and — oh there's the door bell.

That was Joyce Hatch and we just had a nice long chat. As Mayoress of Tomifobia, she is collecting money for a new road from that pulsing little town to Stanstead. She told me that Winifred and Freddie have just moved into the vacant house up the street.

There was a long write-up about Frances Grieve in the Gazette last Saturday, mostly about her dancing tour of Canada. It seems that she draws great crowds of bonnie Scots wherever she goes, but the admission to her shows being necessarily small, she says she expects to have to prolong her tour for at least another eighteen months before she will be financially able to carry out her intention of building a monument to Sir Harry Lauder in Beebe. But like a true Scot, she says she will persevere. Mary Wharry is accompanying her on the tour, acting as companion, secretary, and bookkeeper to the wee lassie.

I often wondered how many of the old class would use the knowledge acquired in Bugbee and I was very pleased to hear a short time ago, that Mary Davis had won the Dulpensel Cup, for the best shorthand recorder in Canada. Betty Walsh was a close runner-up and now these two young ladies are combining their talents on a new shorthand that can be read upside down, backwards or even sideways.

I am throwing a big dinner party tomorrow night so I must go to Sherbrooke and buy a new dress. That is, if I can still juggle figures well enough that my budget will say I can afford it. Anyhow, there is one consolation — I have a bus pass. Joan Chaddock gave it to me. (Those weekend trips from Rock Island to Waterloo were simply too much for her to bear and so, after years of struggling, she has worked up to President of the Rock Island-Waterloo Bus Line and has made many improvements in the service.) If I have lost the art of juggling figures acquired in my book-keeping days, I can always go down to Rene Morin's Shoppe in Beebe and put a dress on my charge account. He has employed Elaine Shepard as a buyer and she travels continually between New York and Paris, picking out the most beautiful creations you have ever dreamed of.

Wish me luck with my dinner party — I simply must make a good impression. Ken Currie, the big industrial magrate, is coming and so is Audrey Barlow and her husband who is the President of the A. & P. Company. After dinner we are going dancing at Mary Ashman's Dance Land — the most superb place for miles around.

Well, Berit, I must scurry now. Please write soon and send me a copy of your latest book, "Norway — Land of the Midnight Sun."

Love,

Adelaide.

THE WAY TO THE NORTH

By Berit Rasmussen

Norway, or as the name implies, "the way to the north" is a small country lying in the northwest of Europe. A good idea of just how far north it actually is may be given by comparing it to North America. When this is done, it is seen that the southern tip of Norway reaches only into Hudson Bay.

From north to south the country stretches 2850 miles and about 58 per cent of the area is mountains, 25 per cent forests and only 6 per cent is under cultivation. Geography plays a large part in shaping a country's history and way of life and is particularly true of Norway. However, despite their small numbers, the influence of the farming class in the economic, social and political life of the country has been great.

The first settlements occurred about 10,000 years ago and Catholicism became the religion of the people in 980. Many buildings (mostly churches) built then, are still in existence today. The oldest of these is a simple, stone church built between 1060 and 1080 and there are 25 others which have stood as symbols of beauty and faith since the 12th century. The old church artists naturally seem crude amateurs in their field when compared to the men of later days, but artists and architects are awed by their sense of form and colour and the true understanding of beauty revealed in their works.

The Lutheran Church was introduced in Norway approximately four centuries ago and today it is the State Church. The Government pays the ministers and for the building and up-keep of the churches.

A glance at the map will immediately tell you that the sea is the source of the largest part of the nation's income. In the year-round fishing on the banks of the west and north coasts, some 30,000 men take in enormous quantities of herring, cod and mackerel each year. The Norwegian Merchant Navy is surpassed only by those of England and United States in size and equipment.

Norway has been a kingdom for 900 years and the present king, Haakon VII, is undoubtedly the most popular man in the country. He enjoys the support of all political parties, even the Communists. During these long years as a Monarchy, Norway has developed much loyalty and love for the Crown and I believe that, if we are allowed to rule the country ourselves, the Royal Family will remain at the head of the Government for many more centuries.

In a long country such as Norway, the climate naturally changes somewhat from part to part but on the whole the ideas of most people about our climate are mistaken. It does seem probable that the summers of a country situated so far to the north must be cold. But the Norwegian summer is as a summer should be — warm enough to encourage as much out-door life as possible but cool enough for comfort. The Gulf Stream, which flows close to the coast-line contributes greatly to the agreeable summer weather and the mercury rises and falls between 75 and 85 degrees F. for most of the summer. The Atlantic Ocean, our western border, maintains a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees, making bathing a cooling and comfortable pastime.

In the northern part of Norway, above the Polar Circle, the sun never sets from May till the end of July. It starts its return trip across the heavens before it reaches the horizon and each day begins with the same burst of rose, purple and gold as ended the previous day. It is not a sight that can be adequately pictured by words — only by actually witnessing it can it be fully appreciated, and many tourists come from all parts of the world to see the Midnight Sun. In the winter, blue, white and green Northern Lights dance like inquisitive search lights over and across the sky. Inland, you come upon the Lapps, and borrowing a type of sleigh peculiar to that tribe of people, and a reindeer, you can fly over the snow-covered ground at Derby-speed, the cold air illuminated by the mystifying light of the Northern Lights overhead.

Even in the South, we have the long twilight from the Midnight Sun. At this time we take weekend trips and travel up the coast from island to island and fiord to fiord in sail boats. When a suitable place is found, we put ashore, erect tents, build camp fires and then dance throughout the night.

The geography and general nature of the country have made the Norwegians hardy, out-door, sports-minded people. With mountains and hills covering over half the country's area, it is quite understandable that skiing is our national sport. Children usually make their debut into the skiing circles at the age of three, and ski for five to six months out of twelve thereafter. Before they reach their teens they are as much at home on skis as on foot. Ice-skating and soccer also create nation-wide interest, no less, than that created by hockey and baseball in North America.

Sport-fishing is also popular, not only with Norwegians, but with tourists. Englishmen comprise a large percentage of the annual hordes of fishing-visitors, and last year Winston Churchill was amongst them. So pleased was he with the results of his expedition that he stated that he wished to rent a whole river for himself next spring.

While I am speaking of our tourists, I might mention some of the amusing incidents that inevitably occur with their arrival each year. As you know, we have our own language, and although many of the words sound like English words, their meanings are quite different. So it is with the word, "Hell!" An explanation being, I believe, needless, I shall merely tell you that in Norwegian this word means "the bottom of a hill." We have a station called "Hell" and it would be safe to say that almost half of our foreign visitors buy a return ticket to Hell. Undoubtedly the tickets stubs arouse a stir and close questioning when shown to the "folks back home."

It is a well-known fact that the English and Danish skiers keep Norwegian doctors in a high financial bracket. (If trees were notably scarcer and therefore more valued, tree surgeons would also benefit by the annual invasion of such novices.) When a young graduate of medicine is asked about his plans for marrying, the stock answer is, "Well, I guess I'll have to wait till the Danish and English skiers come because I need some money to start off with."

Norway is old and it is small but its national spirit is modern and strong. She is awake to the situation of the world and anxious for peace. I have enjoyed my visit to Canada and United States and though I am returning to Norway in a few months, I shall never forget any of you nor anything I have seen in your wonderful country. And if any of you ever visit Norway, when you buy your ticket to Hell, ask the station agent for one to Sauda, too.

THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Another successful year has been spent by the students of the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music, under the guidance of the Conservatory staff. The staff and students are to be congratulated at the progress and gratifying results produced.

Mr. R. deH. Tupper, whose second year this is at Stanstead, has again produced marvellous results within the Conservatory. He has personally conducted a music appreciation class for the Senior girls, which proved very interesting and educational. With all his hard work, Mr. Tupper has helped to give music a more important part in the school. The school is very appreciative for all the work he has done.

Miss E. McFadzen has had gratifying results with her large number of piano students. In addition to this personal teaching, she has conducted theory classes which have been beneficial to her students.

Mrs. Fulcher spent another year as Registrar and has also helped to make the Conservatory a success.

Miss B. Dorval has worked with us this year and has had excellent success with her piano students.

Mrs. Gordon Jones has spent her last year with us as vocal and piano teacher. She has done grand work with the Girls' Chorus as well as with her individual teaching. Her work with the United Church Choir was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Gordon Jones has also spent his last year with us as violin instructor, and has had very gratifying results with his pupils. His contributions to the entertainments of the school have been very generous. We all wish Mr. and Mrs. Jones all the success in the future.

RECITALS

Several Model School or Junior recitals have been given on Friday afternoons when a number of boys and girls from the lower grades played piano solos. There have also been a number of very informal recitals in Pierce Hall on Friday evenings, where the vocal and instrumental selections were greatly enjoyed by the rest of the students.

The Senior recital is to be held in the Haskell Opera House in June and about this time, Junior and Intermediate recitals will be presented in Pierce Hall.

STANSTEAD COLLEGE BAND

Under the fine direction of Mr. R. deH. Tupper, the College band has this year produced some very remarkable results. Of the numbers practised through the year, the following pieces were played at a concert on May 12: "Dedication March" - Ian MacMillan; Overture-Neptune - R. Eisenbach; "Song of the Rise" - E. Weber; "March Past of the 256th" - Ian MacMillan.

The band also had the occasion of playing for the meeting of the county teachers a short time previous to this recital.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of Mr. R. deH. Tupper, the orchestra this year reached a most commendable standard. The orchestra offered a delightful program at the Concert on May 12, in which they played the Adagio Movement and Minuet from Symphony in D Major by Haydn, Concerto in C Minor for piano and orchestra—Allegro Movement by Beethoven. The piano solo was excellently played by Shirley May. The third selection was "The Ballet of the Flowers" by Henry Hadley.

The orchestra this year consisted of: Gordon Jones, Corinne Begin, Maureen Haggas - First Violin; F. Stanton, Henri Pelchat, Alfred Stehr, Edith Howes - Second Violin; Dorothy Begin Cello; H. Channel, E. C. Amaron - Double Bass; Laurie Tilton, Gordon Stewart - Horn; Graham Turnbull - Trombone; Ralph Connor, Charles Martin, Orvald Nordby - Trumpet; Ken Currie - Saxophone; Miss E. McFadzen - Piano.

GIRLS' CHORUS

The girls' chorus which worked through the Fall and Winter, under the able direction of Mrs. Gordon Jones, demonstrated their progress made during the year when they sang several numbers at the Concert on May 12. Among them were: "The Shepherd's Dance" - Edward German; "Tales of Vienna Woods" - Strauss; "Doubt Not Thy Father's Care" and "Fly, Singing Bird" - Elgar; "Brother James Air" - arranged by G. Jacob. The last two selections were sung with string accompaniment.

PIERCE HALL PROGRAMS

Kresz-Hambourg Trio

The first Pierce Hall Program of the year was held on November 11, in the Haskell Opera House, when the Kresz-Hambourg Trio gave their audience a very entertaining evening. Mrs. de Kresz was at the piano, Mr. de Kresz at the violin and Mr. Hambourg at the cello. Mrs. de Kresz in a very charming manner introduced and explained each number on the program.

Following the recital, a reception was held in the College reception room, where the senior students and staff had the opportunity of meeting these fine performers.

Harry Maude

The second of the Pierce Hall programs was an inspiring recital given by Mr. Harry Maude, bass-baritone. The audience, from the small boys of the Annex to the members of the staff, was enthralled with his performance.

In the first part of his program, Mr. Maude's group of operatic arias seemed to delight the audience.

In the latter part of the program, his selections from Gilbert and Sullivan were especially appreciated. Mr. Maude displayed his versatility in his last group of songs, negro spirituals. The artist was very generous with his encores.

Mr. Martin was a very capable accompanist.

To the great pleasure of the students, Mr. Maude consented to sing several numbers, very informally, in the College recreation room, where with his excellent voice and charming personality, he brought a most memorable evening to a close.

The number of pupils enrolled in the Holmes Memorial School during the year 1949-50 was 197.

In spite of many cases of grippe and German measles, the examinations for the first and second terms were completed successfully and the reports given at the usual time. Pupils having obtained eighty per cent or more will be excused from the final examinations if they have kept up to the required standard.

In addition to the usual classwork, Grade I worked on a table display of a sugar making camp, and at Christmas another one was made telling the Christmas story.

At Hallowe'en Grades I and II collected money for the Red Cross by means of Charity boxes.

Grade II exchanged letters with boys and girls in foreign countries, and Grades V and VI, through the I.O.D.E., wrote to children in other lands of the British Empire.

Speeches on current events were given each Monday morning by Grade III who also entertained Grades I and II with a play or a song one day each week.

Grade IV had Art classes every Friday and has read five story books in its Reading Groups.

A book review contest was held under the direction of the Haskell Library in which Grades IV, V, and VI took part. Grade III made its annual visit to the Haskell Library where Mrs. Poapst talked to the pupils about the use of the books.

Mr. Phillip Allan gave a most interesting talk on the Canadian Northland to Grade VI.

The boys and girls taking private music lessons at the Conservatory, as well as some of the Grades, took part in several recitals in Pierce Hall.

The National School Broadcasts were especially good this year and in the higher grades were helpful in history.

Several pupils in Grade VI won Penmanship Certificates during the year.

As usual, the Manual Training, Craft Work and Domestic Science programs were carried on. In the School Fair there was a large number of entries and the prize money amounted to $45.00.

The Model School boys and girls have taken part in the Track meets and have represented the school on teams. Mr. Abbott has donated a shield for competition among the boys.

Under the Junior Red Cross the following projects have been completed:-

1. Six hundred calendars were ordered for sale in Grade I to VIII.
2. Red Cross magazines were sold.
3. An outfit for a three-year old child was sent to England on which part of the work was done by the Model School.
4. At the end of each term boxes were shipped to the Red Cross Headquarters.
5. Food sales were held by Grades V and VI to raise money, and the Model School helped in the program and sale of tickets for International Night.

6. Wash cloths and scrap books were made by a number of the grades.

Special grants from the Department of Education have supplied new books for each classroom library.

During Education Week parents and friends visited the class rooms, each grade giving one special part of the general program.

The pupils of the Holmes Memorial School appreciate the work done by Mrs. Wharram and the members of the Teaching Staff in making the year interesting and successful.

BOOK REVIEW

I have just finished reading a good book called "Circus Shoes". This story is about two orphan children, Peter and Santa, who went to live with Aunt Rebecca. Aunt Rebecca had been lady's maid to a duchess, and thought only a duchess could be right. When the aunt died, the children ran away to their Uncle Gus, who was in a circus. There are many more interesting things in this book. I am sure whoever reads this book will like it. It is written by Noel Streatfield, and published by Random House. "Ballet Shoes" and "Tennis Shoes" are by the same author.

A TRIP TO THE LIBRARY

We went to the Library and we looked at books. We saw some butterflies. They were very pretty. There were big ones. We went in the other rooms too.

The lady said she would be glad if we took some books home. They had some with very big pictures in them. The lady was nice to us. Her name was Mrs. Poapst.

We had a lot of fun.

MY BOOK REVIEW

The book I have just finished reading is called "The Bobbsey Twins at Cherry Corners". The author is Laura Lee Hope. In the summer the Bobbsey twins, Bert, Nan, Freddie, and Flossie, went to Cherry Corners. While they were there they picked cherries. There were some monkeys there and they kept taking things out of the house and hiding them. They tried to catch them, but they had a lot of trouble.

It is a nice book for boys and girls.

A HORSE TO REMEMBER

by

Genevieve Torrey Eames

This story is about a horse and three children who have exciting adventures. The children's names are Martha and Mary Dane, who are twins, and their brother Jarvis.

The children live on a large farm where many horses are raised. The girls are splendid riders, but the boy does not ride well until he becomes interested in a special horse named "Joker."

The father does not know this and is going to sell the horse. Many troubles begin at this point all of which make the story very interesting.

In the end the boy surprises them all by winning the championships by riding his horse "Joker".

I liked this story very much because it is clean and full of life.

A TRIP TO BEAVER TOWN

On my summer vacation last year, I went to visit Beaver Town. Here I learned many things about beavers I never knew before. The men in charge would pull the beaver's house down and then the beavers would have to build it up again. It was fun to watch them take a stick and dive into the water with it, then come up and start rebuilding. One beaver who was sixteen years old, chewed down a tree. The man who looks after the beavers took the tree the beaver had cut down and gave him only a little piece. He gave the rest to the other beavers.

We went in one building and saw some mothers and baby beavers. Some of the baby beavers were only six weeks old.

FRENCH

French is a subject I can't understand,

It sounds like the language from some other land.

It's difficult to read as you can all see,

I really don't know what's the matter with me.

I'm trying to learn it, strange as it sounds,

I'm learning to write all the plurals of nouns,

I don't know what I'm saying when it comes to

So what shall I do when I visit strange lands?

Activities

INITIATION

In our rapidly changing modern world, the old usually gives place to the new. But there is one outstanding exception — Stanstead Initiation. Each year the old gags and stunts are brought forth from their graves and with the addition of a fresh coat of shoe polish, serve to remind the Freshmen of their new status in society.

We think that few of the new students knew before how dark and cold it is at 4:30 on a September morning, but on that first Saturday, they found out! After the Freshmen had been awakened (very gently) the art class held its first session and the results which were herded through Stanstead and Rock Island, brought back some recollections of Apache and Iroquois days.

The girls, though having faces covered with make-up of a more subtle shade, were no less artistic specimens, and both groups, to the joy of all, wore their new insignia to the breakfast table. (To achieve the desired colouring effects, we give you our secret compound of flour, oatmeal, lipstick, onions and shoe polish!)

After breakfast, many individual talents were demonstrated by means of proposals, choruses and "musical" solos.

Red ribbon ties, clothes inside out, one black stocking and pin curls were seen all the next week on the new students.

Reaction at the end:

Old students—"You should have got it like we did."

New students—"Ugh!"

FRESHMEN PROM

The Annual Freshmen Prom was held on September 17th. The reception line which was formed in the Reception Room included Dr. and Mrs. Amaron, and student hostess and host, Dorothy Beinschrott and Paul Newhall. Ken Currie acted as Master of Ceremonies.

After the first prom, led by Dr. and Mrs. Amaron, a short musical programme followed, including a vocal solo by Mrs. Jones, piano solos by Shirley May and Donald Thomson, and violin solo by Mr. Jones. Miss McFadzen was accompanist.

Prom cards were distributed and then Dorothy Beinschrott and Paul Newhall led the way to Pierce Hall where Miss Brown and Mr. Abbott gracefully executed the "Koki Oki".

During the evening, Mr. MacPherson and his amateur group gave a successful rendition (rend is right!) of "Clementine" and "the Massacre of the MacPherson", two famous historical events.

After refreshments had been served, dancing continued until 11:30. The final prom led back to the Reception Room, where the Freshmen Prom was officially ended by the singing of the Alma Mater.

THE FOOTBALL DANCE

The Football Dance this year began as a Hallowe'en Party for both juniors and seniors. The gym was gaily decorated in orange and black for the occasion. The programme of Hallowe'en games was enlivened by spooks in the basement and Story-Teller Abbott upstairs. Refreshments were served about 9.30 in Pierce Hall. Then the Master of Ceremonies "Hank" Schreiber thanked the juniors for their co-operation and suggested that it was time they go to bed. After that, dancing continued until 11.30. The evening ended with the singing of the Alma Mater and Good-byes said to Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, Football Captain "Boots" MacLeod and Gwen Allen.

SADIE HAWKINS DAY

Due to many cases of measles, and several suspects, preparations for the dance were kept off almost until the last minute. But the girls got together in a hurry and under the supervision of the Girls' House Committee made up for lost time. The result was a most enjoyable evening for all who attended.

Chivalry's usual procedures were reversed when the girls provided "corsages" for the boys and saw to it that they did not sit out many dances. The corsages, ranging from animal to vegetable, brought to light much undiscovered artistic talent.

Jo Mooyboer made an excellent Mistress of Ceremonies and with her humorous announcements kept events moving. The programme consisted of a short skit, fondly dedicated to the memory of two tragedies enacted by the boys at the Freshman Prom. The girls choice was the dramatization of "Dangerous Dan McGrew". A corsage-judging contest also took place. After much parading by the boys, clapping by the audience and pondering by the judges, John Philip was chosen "Corsage Boy of 1950" with Bob Stewart and Ian Thomson tying for second place.

Dancing until 11.30 followed refreshments. With the singing of our school song and good-byes said to student host and hostess Ruth Rice and Bob McCaffrey, a success Sadie Hawkins Day came to an end.

THE CHRISTMAS DANCE

As it is the last social event before approaching exams, the Christmas Dance is looked forward to with great expectation. And 1949's annual party lived up to these expectations. A brightly decorated tree was the centre of activities, while a brilliantly lighted one provided coloured lights in one corner. It was around these Christmas symbols that the dance took place and helped to produce a real Christmas atmosphere which prevailed the whole evening.

The singing of Carols was the only extra entertainment. It preceded refreshments while dancing followed until the end of the evening.

Acting as hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Dorothy Halpenny and Gordon Stewart. Peter Foulkes made a success of the difficult job of M.C.

Thanks go to the Social Committee and all others who pitched in to make a go of the Christmas dance.

INTERNATIONAL NIGHT

The banging of hammers, the shouts for more streamers, and the hurried scurrying for supplies, which have been marks of activity about the last weekend of November for many years, are sure signs of the approach of International Night. And the signs did not fail! On November 19, the tribes of the earth assembled in the College Gymnasium for the annual celebration. As usual the Highland Clans offered their cooling face at the doorway, their inn complete with the clan shields was easily the most colourful booth (Note to Mr. K.: Try and stop this one!) The games committee held forth in two places, a Dutch Mill which had unaccountably ranged itself just next door to the Scots' Inn, and an adobe hut from Mexico. The food department, with a complete complement of chefs, represented France. The Christmas gift booth with a gay shamrock motif showed the top sales of the evening. The Fancywork booth displayed a number of very attractive pieces in their setting representing Old Spain. But by no means least on the evening's booths was the North East corner, where an ardent and youthful group of fishermen plied lines and hooks to a good advantage. The entertainment was built around a United Nations theme.

AN EVENING OF PLAYS

Three one-act plays were presented during the winter term. Their themes were widely diversified, ranging from slap-stick comedy to comedy of manners to tragedy. "In the Suds," the first of these may have been originally dubbed a "curtain riser", but it took top honours that evening. Its cast was small: Graham Turnbull, a hen-pecked husband; Johanne Mooyboer, a domineering wife, and Edith Howes, the proverbial typical mother-in-law. The play was not long, but excellent acting ability was soon displayed and the audience was kept roaring with laughter over the cavorting of Graham, and the athletic ability of Jo who falls with a splash, in the suds.

"Elizabeth Refuses" adapted from Jane Austin's "Pride and Prejudice", was perhaps a more difficult play to put over. Everything depended on its comedy of manners which are difficult to reproduce to a critical modern audience. Also, the audience found it rather difficult to understand the plot of the story. This is always true when a story is adapted from another and longer one and "Elizabeth Refuses" seemed especially hard to grasp in one act. However, the actors came through with flying colours despite the material with which they had to work. Elizabeth Bennett, who refuses, was played by Gwen Allen, Jane Bennett, who has expectations, by Dorothy Beinschrott; Mrs. Bennett, who wants to get her daughters married, Shirley May; Lady Catherine, who is used to getting her own way, Ruth Rice; and the Rev. Collins, who fancies himself irresistible by the female sex, Ralph Connor.

The curtain rose for the third time on the darkened kitchen of a lonely Scottish cottage. The time is after the rising of '45. A young Scottish boy, fleeing from his pursuers, enters the home of his mother. He is soon traced there by his enemy, the dread Campbell of Kilmohr and his detachment of soldiers.

The whole play is one of tragedy. It was very effective due in many instances to the inspired acting of Margaret Philip who played the mother, Mary Stewart. John Philip took the part of her son, Dugald, and Maureen Haggas as Morag Cameron, his sweetheart. Campbell was acted by Norman Bodtke; Captain Sandeman by Bob Stewart; James MacKenzie, Ray Van Vliet; and soldiers:- Gordon Stewart, Kenneth MacLeod, and Brian Fluhmann.

This play, "Campbell of Kilmohr" was the last of the evening and gave an effective note of pathos to the whole production.

THE DOCTOR IN SPIKE OF HIMSELF

On April 28 of this year, the Stanstead Dramatics Society produced Barnard Hewitt's translation of Molière's "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." The play, a farce comedy, was very excellently acted. All actors suited their parts to perfection, and the result was an evening of side-splitting laughter for all who attended.

The play was written during the seventeenth century. Scenery was at a minimum, but at the same time was more effective for being so, for the acting was so well done that the audience paid no attention to the stage settings, but fastened their eyes on the actors right from the beginning to end.

In giving an outline of the play one might say that the circumstances leading to the climax, are as fitting to this age as to that time. The little wife, Martine, quarrels with her husband, Sganarelle, and he, having more courage than most of us, beats her, much to the delight of the audience. She, in retaliation, tells two men, looking for a doctor to cure their Master's daughter of a strange malady, that her husband is just the doctor they are looking for. In reality he is a woodcutter. He of course denies this, when he is beaten into a confession, he becomes a very capable looking doctor. The daughter is suffering from a disease long since vanished into the past . . . a strange malady called lovesickness. Her cruel father won't let her marry the man she loves. Our Doctor very capably fixes things up, nearly sticking his own neck in the noose, or as in the play "a good stiff rope, knotted under the left ear." To finish the play, he and his wife are on speaking terms, but if the curtain hadn't fallen in a hurry, they would probably have been at it again.

The cast consisted of Sganarelle, a woodcutter who was too fond of life to work very hard, and too thickskinned to be bothered by his wife's reproaches. The part was played by Gordon Stewart. Martine, his wife, a sharp-tongued hefty country woman was done by Edith Howes. Robert, an intruding neighbour, Alfred Stehr. Geronte, a wealthy, miserly, stubborn man, who fancies himself smarter than he is, and consequently is duped by everyone, was well played by Graham Turnbull. Geronte's daughter, Lucinde, a charming strong-minded wench, more than a match for her father played by Barbara Jackson. Valere, steward to Geronte, a man who wants to get ahead in the world, but is not as clever as he thinks: Paul Newhall. Lucas, servant to Geronte, slow-witted, and a very jealous husband: Doug Wilson. Lucas' wife, Jacqueline, a young attractive wench: Janice Murray. Thibault, a poor man, old, very garrulous, a simple rustic, and his son Perrin, who was a shade brighter than his father, were played by Peter Foulkes and Edward Simoneau respectively. Dorothy Beinschrott played the part of Lucinde's maid.

As stated before, the play was an outstanding success with superb acting all around. Our hats go off to Mr. MacPherson who did a splendid job in directing, and arranging the play. His untiring efforts resulted in a fine performance to end the year's productions, and without a doubt it will prove to be a great inspiration to next year's dramatic club.

THE NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY, TROUPE #1056

The College Dramatics Club under Mr. MacPherson has established the first Canadian Troupe of the National Thespian Society. This Society, though little known in Canada, is widely known and does much work in the United States.

The National Thespian Society was established in 1929 by a group of teachers interested in dramatics. The aim of the society is to improve dramatic arts in the secondary schools. The Society grew very fast and today consists of over 1,000 troupes and of over 100,000 active and alumni members. The Society publishes its own magazine "Dramatics" which gives hints towards improved productions in the way of make up, publicity, staging, costuming and so on.

The official installation of the Troupe took place Sunday, May 14. Twenty-one members were initiated to become full fledged charter members. The ceremony was an impressive one and the initiation of our club into the society should provide genuine enthusiasm on the students' part when the club renews its activities next year.

CADETS

Once again across the campus on Thursday afternoons could be heard the familiar command of Company On Parade. The cadet corps was formed again this year, and uniforms were issued to all.

The officers consisted of Cadet Major Paul Newhall who was in charge of the company; Cadet Capt. Kenneth Currie in charge of number one Platoon; Cadet Lieut. David Hawkins in charge of number two Platoon; and Cadet Lieut. Robert McCaffrey, officer in charge of number three Platoon. Norman Bodtler was C.S.M., and Kenneth MacLeod was C.Q.M.S. along with Sgt. Orvald Nordby in charge of the band.

The N.C.O.'s consisted of:

- No. 1 Platoon: Cadet Sgt. Peter Foulkes
Cadet Cpl. Leon Jedeikin
Cadet Cpl. Robert Stewart
Cadet Cpl. Lester Baldwin
- No. 2 Platoon: Cadet Sgt. Robert Cournoyer
Cadet Cpl. Raymond Smith
Cadet Cpl. Donald Stephen
Cadet Cpl. André Barbeau
- No. 3 Platoon: Cadet Sgt. Barton Mann
Cadet Cpl. Bert Titcomb
Cadet Cpl. Henry Schreiber

During September and October, classes were held from which these officers and N.C.O.'s were selected. These classes taught the candidates basic drill movements and commands along with the responsibilities of their cadet duties.

First Aid, Signalling and General Training classes began late in the first term. The First Aid class under the direction of Mr. S. F. Abbott and Dr. LaPierre provided an interesting course of instruction for all those who decided to take the course. The examination was held by Dr. A. R.

V. White and the results were fairly good.

The signalling class had as its instructor Mr. MacPherson who did a capable job, as the results by the examiner Sgt/Maj. Newman from headquarters proved. Several candidates received certificates.

The General Training Course was valuable to all who took it. They were instructed in Rifle Drill, Map Reading along with the fundamentals of cadet drill. Captain McGilton instructed the boys in this course.

During the afternoons, in spare time, a number of cadets could be found on the Rifle Range, trying out for various badges, which a large number received. The Range was under the supervision of Mr. MacPherson.

The band was formed again, this year under the capable direction of Mr. Battersby. While the rest of the cadets were at classes, they could be heard practicing and drilling.

THE CADET BALL

A most enjoyable evening was had by all on Saturday evening, January 21, when the Cadet Ball was held. To greet the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Amaron, Capt. and Mrs. McGilton, Michele Vanier and Cadet Lieut. Currie.

Midway through the evening Lieut. Hobbs of Quebec Command presented the Strathcona Trust Cup for Marksmanship. Cadet Lieut. Currie and a group of cadets received this trophy on behalf of the company.

The music was supplied by Hector Channel's orchestra and refreshments were served by the cadets. Mr. Abbott was the jovial Master of Ceremonies. At the end of the dance it was agreed by all that it had been one of the best dances of the year.

Girls' Sports

Senior Soccer

Standing: Miss P. Brown, Coach, D. Young, M. Davis, R. Rice, P. Wiser, M. Philip, Seated: G. Allen, B. Rasmussen, B. Kyle, S. Ferguson, D. Halpenny, M. Golden, M. Kyle.

The 1949-50 soccer season at Stanstead was very successful even though there were not as many outside games played as in the previous year. Under Miss Brown's capable leadership many girls, to whom the game was new, learned to play. Four house teams — 2 Red and 2 White — were organized for practising purpose.

The total number of outside games this season was four — two of which were Senior and two Junior.

In the Senior section there was a home and return game with the King's Hall Girls. The battle at Compton was closely contested although Stanstead lost by a score of 4-2. The return game on the College's home field ended with a tied score of 4-4. Sheila Ferguson boosted Stanstead's score in both these games with the help of Berit Rasmussen.

Due to a lack of players on the Beebe team the annual games with them could not be played.

Although Stanstead could not seem to win during the season everyone enjoyed the sport greatly. Many girls improved their game and gained experience in good teamwork and sportsmanship. The season was closed at the beginning of November.

The Senior line-up was as follows:

- Forwards: Sheila Ferguson, Dorothy Halpenny, Donna Young, Berit Rasmussen, Mary Davis, Philippa Wiser.
- Half-backs: Ruth Rice, Marian Kyle, Marmie Golden.
- Full-backs: Margaret Philip, Beverley Kyle.
- Goalers: Gwen Allen.

Junior Soccer

Standing: Miss P. Brown, W. Needham, E. Nordby, A. Davis, P. Holden.
Seated: N. Pugh, M. MacMillan, O. Bubalo, M. Griffin, K. Middleton, M. Vanier, J. Davio.

This season the Junior Girls' Soccer team played three games, outside of the league games amongst the House Teams.

The first game was played at Compton against the King's Hall Junior Girls, and brought a 1 - 0 victory to Stanstead. In the second game with Compton, however, the score was 1 - 0 for Compton, as a result of the Stanstead team's accidentally scoring against themselves. The S.W. C. Junior Boys defeated the girls in the third game, by a score of 2 - 1.

A proposed game with Westmount Junior High School was cancelled, due to bad weather.

The Junior line-up was as follows:

Forwards: Merle Griffin, Julie Davio, Pat Holden, Mickey Vanier.
Half-backs: Erna Nordby, Madeline Goodsell.
Full-backs: Marian MacMillan, Olga Bubalo, Wendy Needham.
Goaler: Nancy Pugh.

There were only two Junior Basketball games played this season.

On February 18, the Juniors were victorious in a game against Lennoxville High School Juniors. This game was played at home with a score of 19 - 7.

In the second game, Ayer's Cliff Seniors defeated the Stanstead Juniors by a score of 41 - 16, at Ayer's Cliff.

The line-up was as follows:

Forwards: Julie Davio, Erna Nordby, Connie Cramer, Dorothy Dow.
Guards: Madeline Goodsell, Wendy Needham, Kathleen Middleton, Nancy Pugh, Marian MacMillan.

Senior Basketball

Standing: J. Goodfellow, M. Davis, R. Rice, S. Ferguson, S. May, Miss P. Brown, Coach.
Seated: B. Kyle, L. Hashek, M. Golden, D. Beinschrott, D. Halpenny.

The basketball season for the girls opened shortly before Christmas and three Senior House League teams were formed. This made a practice possible nearly every day under the capable direction of Miss Brown.

Although there were no long trips this year, after Christmas the girls played several games locally. The first game was with Ayer's Cliff which Stanstead won, followed by a match against Sherbrooke Y.W.C.A. This was another victory for Stanstead. The Lennoxville game brought still more glory to S.W.C. with a smashing score of 38 - 9. A return game was played with Ayer's Cliff on March 1, and Ayer's Cliff lost to Stanstead. There was a home and home series with Derby Academy, and Stanstead suffered their only defeat of the season on the Derby Academy Floor.

The time-keeper and scorer for S.W.C. was Helga Wenman.

Line-up

Forwards: Marmie Golden, Captain, Ruth Rice, Lois Hashek, Dorothy Beinschrott, Shirley May.

Guards: Mary Davis, Dorothy Halpenny, Beverley Kyle, Sheila Ferguson, Joan Goodfellow.

Hockey

Standing: Miss P. Brown, Coach, M. Philip, S. Ferguson, R. Rice, G. Allen, D. Beinschrott, F. Samuels.
Sitting: S. Dawson, L. Hashek, M. MacMillan, D. Dow, B. Kyle, M. Griffin.

SENIOR GIRLS' HOCKEY

The Senior girls only played two games this season due to bad weather and limited practice time. These games were both against Beebe, the first on the S.W.C. ice, the second at the Stanstead Community Rink. Sheila Ferguson put in both goals for Stanstead in the first game, and Marian Kyle scored in the second. Despite this, Stanstead lost both matches 4 - 2, and 5 - 1. In a game against the boys Pee-Wee Team the girls were again defeated.

Line-up

Forwards: Sheila Ferguson, Marian Kyle, Bev. Kyle, Lois Hashek, Shirley Dawson, Marian MacMillan, Dorothy Beinschrott.

Guards: Margaret Philip, Ruth Rice, Frances Samuels, Merle Griffin, Gwen Allen, Dorothy Dow.

Goal: Betty Larabee.

The Stanstead College football team this year made a very good record for themselves, with one draw, two defeats, and four wins. They suffered their first defeat at the hands of Bishop's College School by a score of 32-11. Their second loss was to Ashbury College to the tune of 21-6. The first game with Quebec City High ended in a deadlock, the score standing 5 - 5 at the end. The return engagement with Quebec High saw a different ending with the Red and White team winning 26 - 0. Twice the College team met and defeated the Sherbrooke High team, 15 - 6 and 41 - 0. Stanstead overcame the challenge of St. Patrick's Academy from Quebec by beating them 12 - 6.

The first game of the season was at Sherbrooke High. They opened the scoring with a touchdown in the first quarter. "Boots" MacLeod and Graham Turnbull spearheaded the Stanstead attack, both going over for majors. The highlight of the game was when Eric Jones went over for a score on a long pass from Douglas Wilson, the S.W.C. quarterback.

Two weeks later the S.W.C. squad travelled to Quebec City to meet the Quebec High team. The ball was shuffled up and down the field most of the first half until Q.H.S. recovered a fumbled ball behind the S.W.C. touch line. This made the score 5 - 0 in favour of Q.H.S. "Boots" MacLeod scored for Stanstead in the last quarter tying the score up to 5 - 5.

The next week saw a much improved Stanstead team. Quebec could not meet up with the fierce Red and White attack. Eric Jones, Graham Turnbull, Bruce Edghill, and Maurice Labaree all went over for touchdowns. Norm Bodtke pounced on the ball behind Quebec's goal line, making the final score 26 - 0. Much could be said for the hard work of the line in this game. Credit goes especially to Bob McCaffrey and Pete Foulkes.

The following Wednesday was a black one for Stanstead. For it was found that B.C.S. had a team that could push through the Red and White defence almost at will. S.W.C. was not lacking in spirit, however, as was shown by hard driving Bruce Edghill, who scored the total of eleven points for the team in the afternoon. In spite of the drive of all the team the score at the end of the game was 32 - 11 in favour of B.C.S.

Next on the schedule was Sherbrooke High. From the very beginning Stanstead showed that they were going all out for a big score. Eric Jones, Maurice Labaree, and Ed. Masson scored all the touchdowns between themselves, while Bruce Edghill displayed his ability at scoring converts. The high spot of the game was a brilliant eight-five yard run for a touchdown by Eric Jones which ended the game giving S.W.C. a 41 - 0 victory.

The next weekend was a proud one for Stanstead. St. Patrick's Academy of Quebec lost their first game in three years by a score of 12 - 6. Maurice Labaree and Bruce Edghill both went over for majors. Gordon Stewart was at his kicking best doing wonders with the ball. The game itself was one of the best in spite of the fact that it was played in several inches of snow.

The final game of the season was at Ottawa where Stanstead played the Ashbury College Seniors. The Red and White team suffered a defeat when Ashbury's forward passing ability earned them a 21 - 6 victory. Maurice Labaree went over for Stanstead's sole touchdown, while Bruce Edghill converted. In spite of this loss, high spirit prevailed among the players and it was generally agreed that each and every man on the team deserved much credit for the season's excellent record.

Credit is also due to Mr. S. F. Abbott, Stanstead's very capable coach. His love and enthusiasm for the game was displayed at all times. Paul Newhall also is to be mentioned for his fine job of managing the team.

SENIOR HOUSE LEAGUE BASKETBALL

As in past years five teams were made up out of the senior boys in order to compete for the Britton-Moore trophy. Newhall, Labaree, Theodore, and McCaffrey were chosen as team captains.

As soon as these teams went into action, it was clear that they were evenly matched. Every game was well fought, the winner usually coming out on top by only a few points. After many of these exciting games were finished it was evident that McCaffrey and Newhall would be battling it out with each other to decide who would take the trophy.

In the two ensuing final games, McCaffrey emerged victorious in both, thus making his team winners of the Britton-Moore trophy.

HOUSE LEAGUE HOCKEY

This year there were four house league hockey teams. These teams, made up of boys from grade seven to Bugbee, were ably captained by Eric Jones, Maurice Labaree, John Goodfellow, and Robert McCaffrey.

House league hockey was held on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Though there were no play-offs this year, due to weather conditions, Jones' team placed first in the league standing because it won all its league games.

JUNIOR BOYS' HOUSE LEAGUE BASKETBALL

This year there were four house league junior basketball teams. Each team was given a name, the Eagles captained by Brian Fluhmann, the Cardinals captained by Lindsay Smith, the Bombers captained by "Teddy" Theodore and the Flashes captained by Alvin Cramer.

These teams were made up of boys who were under sixteen years of age.

At the beginning of the season the Eagles were holding first place with the Cardinals close behind in second place, the Bombers were in third place and the Flashes took last place. Then the Cardinals "perked up" to tie the Eagles and finally lead the league for a few games. The Bombers and Flashes remained in the same respective positions with the Flashes losing every game. Again the Eagles went ahead to take first place, at the finish of the league games. The Cardinals finished second while the Bombers placed third and the Flashes stayed behind in last place.

In the play-offs the Eagles beat the Bombers in a sudden death game to enter the finals with the Flashes who beat the Cardinals in a sudden death game. The Eagles easily won the league and the Junior House League Basketball Cup by beating the Flashes in two games straight.

Junior Football

Back Row: C. Martin, J. Philip, L. Ladouceur, B. Fluhmann, B. Thompson, T. Richer.
 Standing: Dr. E. C. Amaron, Coach, E. Simoneau, R. Saunders, C. Darac, L. Titton, R. Goodsell, D. Coburn, G. Hunter, W. Farrow.
 Sitting: D. Currie, B. Titcomb, O. Nordby, A. Cramer, T. Theodore (Capt.), L. Smith, L. Hill, A.
 Stehr, L. Mollot.
 Front Row: E. Smith, G. Van Vliet, B. Mann, I. Thomson, T. Prangley, R. Coleman, J. Gold.

An undefeated season marked this year's junior football team. The football team coached by Dr. Amaron won all its four games with impressive scores. It showed very good school and team spirit, and this doubtless helped account for a successful season.

Having such success, the team had really no outstanding players, though special mention might be given to the team's captain "Teddy" Theodore. Brian Fluhmann was the star kicker of the team, converting, rouging, and kicking field goals. Bert Titcomb made good gains on his power driven bucks. John Philip, Bart Mann, and Lionel Ladouceur also played well in the back-field. On the line Lorne Mollot, Larry Hill, Lindsay Smith, Alvin Cramer, Brian Fluhmann, and Bruce Thompson played very well, keeping the opponents out of their territory.

The scores of the games were as follows:

Stanstead C. 39	Sherbrooke High School 7
Stanstead C. 28	Bishop's College School 0
Stanstead C. 30	Sherbrooke High School 1
Stanstead C. 18	Bishop's College School 5

Soccer

Standing: L. C. MacPherson, Esq., Coach, R. Wallace, R. Labaree, F. LaFleche, R. Holden, R. Poaps, J. Battersby, Esq., Coach.
Sitting: J. Mawhinney, E. Darac, W. Collins, D. Pozer, C. Perron (Capt.), D. Bubalo, K. Batchelor, E. Redden, O. Wheelock.
In Front: K. Thompson

This year out of five games played, Stanstead College Midgets tied one game and lost four. The team was coached by Mr. MacPherson and Mr. Battersby.

The best game of the year was played with Bishop's College School whom they tied one all. The first half was scoreless but Bishop's scored one in the second half. The team's captain Camille Perron tied the score on a beautiful penalty kick.

The Midgets this year showed that there was good stuff in them, though many had never played before. Those who return should make a strong team for next year.

The line-up was as follows:
Center — Camille Perron, Captain

Insides — Dale Pozer, Keith Bacheldor
Wings — Jimmy Mawhinny, Edward Redden, R. Holden
Halves — R. Poaps, R. Wallace, W. Collins, R. Labaree.
Full Backs — E. Darac, F. LaFleche.
Goal — D. Bubalo
Subs. — K. Thompson, E. Cook.

The scores of the games played were as follows:

Stanstead 0	Beebe 5
Stanstead 1	Beebe 3
Stanstead 1	Bishop's College Prep School 1
Stanstead 0	Beebe 2
Stanstead 0	Bishop's College Prep School 3

Senior Basketball

Standing: D. Wilson, B. Edgill, J. Harvey, G. Stewart, R. Stewart, D. Morrissette, G. Turnbull, Dr. E. C. Amaron, Coach.
Sitting: B. Fluhmann, T. Theodore, R. McCaffrey, P. Newhall (Capt.), M. Labaree, J. Philip, O. Nordby.

The Senior basketball team did reasonably well for themselves this year, scoring three wins, one draw and two defeats. The team played Lennoxville twice for a chance at the "Off the Island of Montreal" High School basketball championship which provides the Visser Trophy for the winner. In the first game the score ended 36 - 36. The second game, played in Sherbrooke, ended with a 40 - 30 win for Lennoxville High. Thus the chance for the Visser Trophy was lost to our boys.

The highlight game of the season came, however, when Stanstead played Lachine High School, who were the Senior 'B' Champions of Montreal. The game tilted first one way, then the other. Finally with the able support of Bob McCaffrey and Maurice Labaree, Stanstead was able to wind the game up 29 - 28 in their favor. "Teddie" Theodore and John Philip were to be congratulated on their excellent defence work displayed in this game.

Paul Newhall (Capt.) showed his skill as left forward throughout the season coming in very handy under the basket in many a tight spot. Brian Fluhmann proved himself also very capable in this line. Dr. Amaron is to be congratulated on his effort for producing this year's basketball team.

The result of the games played are listed below:

		For	Against
Derby Academy	home	32	21
North Troy	away	31	37
Lennoxville High	home	36	36
Lennoxville High	away	30	40
North Troy	home	36	26
Lachine High	away	29	28

Juvenile Hockey

Standing: B. Fluhmann, R. Saunders, L. Hill, J. Philip, N. Chamberlain, E. Simoneau, B. Mann, S. F. Abbott, Esq.
Seated: T. Theodore, D. Stephen, J. Goodfellow, L. Ladouceur, L. Mollot.

When the Juvenile Hockey team first stepped on the ice, it was shown clearly that they were going places. In seven games, they emerged victorious in five, the remaining two games standing at one draw and one loss.

The first game was played with Beebe and ended in a 8 - 4 victory for our boys. "Teddy" Theodore displayed his wares when he came up with three goals. The next tilt, with North Hatley, gave an 8 - 1 win for the College. A return game with Beebe gave Stanstead a 7 - 0 decision, thus earning goalie Don Stephen a shut-out. A 2 - 2 draw with North Hatley meant that Stanstead would play a two game, total points series with that team to decide who would play Sherbrooke in the semi-finals of the Q.A.H.A. These two games provided many thrills and chills for the spectators as the terrible trio of Goodfellow, Theodore, and Philip went into action. North Hatley fought hard but in spite of it came out on the short end of an 8 - 5 score. The final game with North Hatley, ending in a 6 - 2 score for Stanstead, once more proved the worthiness of that goal-getting combination of Goodfellow, Theodore, and Philip, while Sunny Stewart and Brian Fluhmann showed their effectiveness on defence. This victory gave the Juvenile trophy, awarded to the district champions, to Stanstead, as well as the right to play the Sherbrooke Optimists.

This game was closely fought all the way. "Teddy" Theodore once more pulling the hat trick. The final goal came in the twelve minute mark of overtime, giving Sherbrooke a 5 - 4 victory. Even though this meant the chance for entering the finals of the Q.A.H.A. was lost, everybody felt that the Juveniles had an extremely good season. Much of the credit for this goes to the untiring efforts of Coach Abbott and to him the team expresses its gratitude.

Bantam Hockey

Standing: R. Redden, J. Boucher, S. F. Abbott, Esq., F. LaFleche, P. Ellis
Seated: R. Wallace, R. Chamberlain, J. Webb, E. Darac, E. Cook.

Made up of boys who were mostly inexperienced this year's Bantam team lost all its games except one in which they tied.

At the start of the season the Bantams lost to Beebe. They also lost against Ayer's Cliff. But in their next encounter with Beebe they tied 2 - 2. In the next game they lost to Ayer's Cliff.

In the play-offs the Bantams lost by one point to Beebe in a sudden death game.

The team, captained by Frank LaFleche, was made up of:

E. Cooke	E. Darac
D. Dyson	J. Webb
J. Miller	R. Wallace
J. Boucher	E. Redden
J. Lees

Thanks should be given to Mr. Abbott and Eric Jones for coaching the team.

Pee-Wee Hockey

Standing: E. Smith, E. Simpson, R. Pugh, A. Itel, P. Farwell, E. Jones (Coach).
Sitting: L. Rollins, B. Chamberlain, K. Collins, P. Ellis, K. Thompson.

The Pee-Wee team this year had a successful year winning five out of nine games played.

There were only two other Pee-Wee teams in the district, Beebe, the winners of the district cup, and Ayer's Cliff.

The Pee-Wee's opened up the season by beating Ayer's Cliff 5 - 2. The next encounter however, was not so successful for the team lost 2 - 1 against Beebe. Following this they won two games against Ayer's Cliff with score of 4 - 0 and 5 - 0 while they tied 1 - 1 and lost 1 - 0 with Beebe.

In the play-offs, which was a two-out-of-three series, the Pee-Wees lost the first game to Beebe with the score of 2 - 0. However, the team won the next game with a score of 2 - 1. The final game was won by Beebe with a 2 - 1 score.

The team, ably captained by "Bobby" Chamberlain, was made up of P. Ellis, K. Thompson, A. Itel, P. Farwell, R. Pugh, R. Steele, L. Rollins, E. Simpson, K. Collins, E. Smith, J. Kirwin and W. Simpson. Eric Jones should receive special mention for his work with these budding hockey players.

Alumni

Miss Elsie McFadyen, Editor

Stanstead, May 30, 1949—The Stanstead College alumni association chose Dr. G. W. Halpenny of Montreal as its 1949-50 president on Saturday at the annual meeting held in Pierce Hall.

Some 200 former students of the College gathered for the meeting which was preceded by a buffet supper in the College dining room. The retiring president John Saneton of Stanstead, presided.

Election of officers, reports on the year's activities and an address to the graduating students by Charles Peters, editorial director of the Montreal Gazette, were high-lights of the business meeting.

Before the alumni meeting proper got under way, a recently installed clock in the tower of the main building was unveiled and dedicated by J. D. McFadyen, retiring head of Bugbee Business College.

Because of rain the ceremony had to be held in Pierce Hall.

Roy Amaron, editor of the College magazine from whose profits over the years funds for the clock were raised, "presented" the clock to J. D. Ferguson, vice-president of the Board of Trustees.

Then, in well-chosen words, Mr. McFadyen officiated at the dedication ceremony. Mr. McFadyen, as managing editor of the magazine, had been the person chiefly responsible for raising the funds with which the clock was purchased.

Another highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a purse of money to Mr. McFadyen, who has been associated with Stanstead for more than 40 years and whose retirement becomes effective at the end of the present school year.

Dr. P. S. Dobson, retired principal of Alma College in Ontario and a former Stanstead student and teacher, made the presentation, describing Mr. McFadyen as "a great teacher and a great Christian leader."

Obviously moved by the gift, Mr. McFadyen voiced his appreciation for the unexpected gesture on the part of the former students.

In addition to Dr. Halpenny, officers were elected as follows:

Honorary president, Dr. C. W. Colby; honorary vice-president, J. H. Andrews; past president, Mr. Saneton; 1st vice-president, A. E. Curtis, Jr.; 2nd vice-president, S. A. Healy; treasurer, F. C.

Miller; secretary, Mrs. Victoria Callis Plow; area chairmen, J. Gordon Stewart, Montreal; R. C. Amaron, Quebec; Stanley B. Stewart, Sherbrooke; M. P. Dixon, Ottawa; F. F. Flemington, Toronto; L. F. Tilton, Stanstead.

Gerald Wilson was re-elected membership secretary, with William Layton as assistant.

Reports showed the society was in a strong financial position and that membership had increased 50 per cent. Activities reported included the raising of money for band instruments and contributions toward various athletic endeavors.

Rev. Dr. E. C. Amaron, principal, briefly reported on school activities during the last year, mentioning particularly post-graduate scholarships won by a number of former students.

Mr. Peters, introduced by D. G. Amaron, spoke of the uncertain and difficult present-day conditions and said they presented a challenge "to those who have vision and character."

OVER 100 ATTEND SCHOOL REUNION

Over 100 former students and staff members of Stanstead College, mostly now residing in the Montreal district, held a reunion on March 15, in Budge Hall of the Central Y.M.C.A. in Montreal.

Attending from here was Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Amaron, Mrs. R. Johnston, Miss P. Brown and S. F. Abbott, all of the College staff.

The evening was begun with a dinner, presided over by J. G. Stewart, Montreal area chairman, who spoke briefly along with Dr. Gerald Halpenny, Alumni Association president, and Dr. Amaron. Dr. Amaron showed some 150 colored slides of pictures taken about the college and movies were shown by Wm. Layton. Later there was folk dancing led by Mr. Abbott and Miss Brown.

Among others present were Leslie N. Buzzell, chairman of the board of the college, and J. H. Andrews and F. B. Wilson, trustees, as well as Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McFadyen, who now reside in Montreal.

As this column goes to print there are rumours that it may be discontinued. Although its compilation may have entailed some "burning of the mid-night oil" we have found it a "labor of love". For above all, the purpose of any school (or college) is to lay good foundations on which worthwhile human lives may be built by God's grace. The school should follow with interest the building of those lives, that the contact between student and "Alma Mater" may prove mutually helpful in the years to come.

ELSIE M. McFADZEN.

Late Flashes: (Too late for inclusion in their regular sections).

JUNIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL: An after season game with Sherbrooke High School Juniors brought a hard won victory to the College team on Saturday, May 13. The game, played on Sherbrooke's home floor ended in a score of 34 - 27. High scorer for the team was their captain, Orvald Nordby. Other players were John Philip, Teddy Theodore, Brian Fluhmann, Alvin Cramer, oLrne Mollot, and Lindsay Smith.

TRACK: Almost unprecedented in the Sherbrooke Interscholastic Track Meet was the weather; for the first time in many years the neither rain nor cold appeared to make conditions difficult. The Red and White of Stanstead College finally proved Trophy winning material as they annexed 77 points to runner-up Granby's 62. The Skinner Trophy was received by track captain, Paul Newhall. It is interesting to note that Stanstead won four out of five relays.
